The End

These last few months have been an exciting time at Harvey Comics.

First off, Harvey Comics Entertainment became a publicly owned company. What that means is we started selling stock on the open market. (Do you think Richie Rich would buy our stock?) It shows we've really come a long way since Jeff Montgomery bought the company in 1989. Harvey is determined to become one of the comic industry's heaviest hitters, and I think we're well on our way.

We're hard at work on new titles to bring you every month. The Incredible Crash Dummies continues to be one of my favorites. I can't wait to see the wacky and exciting new pages each issue and see what the Crash Dummies have in store. This month, the Crash Dummies rocket into outer space to do battle with the evil Junkman. He plans to take over the world with a missile he's built from the world's junk. Bet you never thought your old garbage could come back to hurt you: there's a good argument for recycling!

I hope you're getting ready for the premiere issue of Beethoven. I'm sure you all remember last year's movie Beethoven, (you should, it was one of the most successful pictures of the year!) Well, this year brings us the sequel: Beethoven's 2nd. This time that lovable St. Bernard has a family of his own. There's nothing cuter than a houseful of puppies. You might says it's "adogable". (I'm allowed to make bad puns; I'm the editor). The first issue of Beethoven squeezes the entire movie into a single comic book that you can have even before the film opens! (Sorry, popcorn not included).

We're also hard at work getting our new Hanna-Barbera line together. We'll be bringing you all new stories from your favorite characters: the Jetsons, the Flintstones, Yogi Bear, Scooby Doo... I could fill this entire page just listing the characters. I've been reading this stuff as it comes in, and let me tell you, this is some of the funniest material to come out of comics in ages. And incidentally, there hasn't been any new material on most of these characters in over 25 years.

And have you heard the whispers about Harvey's upcoming movie projects? We can't say too much, but I will let you know that Richie Rich was seen buying a 24 karat gold director's chair with his name spelled out in diamonds. And you didn't hear it from me, but a certain friendly ghost has been taking acting lessons. More on this as it develops.

Here's an interesting piece of news. I always knew that comic book fans were about the smartest people out there, but now I have proof. They did a study of the top reading students and it turned out that 90% of them were heavy comic book readers. Ninety percent! Shows that smart people know reading can be fun and still be good for you.

The summer will have come and gone by the time you read this, and I was just thinking how lucky I am to work with comic books for a living. Comic books bring me back to a time when work meant doing my math homework, responsibility meant cleaning my room, and all that mattered was making the most of a summer's day. I hope you're making the most of all your days! See you next month!

The INCREDIBLE CRASH DUMMIES made some major news this past August at the world famous San Diego Comics Convention. Attended by more than 60,000 people—including fans, creators, store owners and distributors—this biggest of all comic book conventions played host to one of the greatest stunts ever done in comics.

And it all had to do with the CRASH DUMMIES!

DUMMIES artist Weirdly Brilliant Bill Vallely—who has already gotten himself a huge, fanatical following—came up with a super idea. "Why not allow as many people as possible to contribute their skills to a page of artwork," he suggested. (Actually Weirdly Brilliant Bill doesn't really talk that way. His style is more like an exploding furnace, but you get the idea.)

"And how do we manage that?" we asked. (We, on the other hand, really do talk that way.)

"I'll draw a full page splash of a snow scene," he smiled, "and leave out the snow! Let THEM draw in the snow."

"How many people would want to draw snowflakes?" we asked snidely.

Well, how about 465 in two and a half hours time? They lined up in front of the Harvey booth at the convention, sometimes 20 or 30 at a time, to draw their own tiny snowflake for the opening splash page (Can you really call a snow scene a SPLASH page?) to CRASH DUMMIES #4. And we even got some pretty important comic celebs to participate. Folks like Jim Shooter, Mark Evanier, Dan Chichester, Jim Vallely (he's Weirdly Brilliant Bill's brother, and one of Hollywood's biggest sit-com writers and producers) and so many more.

You'll see the result next month in page 1 of "Merry Crashmas," the absolutely mad Christmas story that we have in store for you that will send you crashing into the holiday mood. It's also got one heckuva cover, by the way, a crayon colored masterpiece that we promise will make you dizzy.

In addition, all those of you who contributed to this page will have their names listed in the back of the magazine.

And to top it off, we've called the Guiness Book of Records to ask that this effort be listed as the comic book page drawn by the most artists ever!

So be there next month when "Merry Crashmas" appears and you get the chance to own a sure fire collector's dream—the page drawn by the most artists ever! (And the rest of the package ain't exactly chopped liver!)

And if you've got something to say, remember our address!
